Finish Round with Duplicate Stitch

Work the last stitch of the round and cut yarn, leaving about a 6"-10"/15-25 cm tail.

1. Draw the last loop still on the hook all the way through the last stitch made, until the tail passes through the stitch. Thread the tail through a yarn needle.
2. Skip the next stitch (first stitch of round). With the yarn needle, run the end of the tail under both loops of the next stitch and pull the yarn through.
3. Insert the needle back through where the tail originally came from (last stitch made) and behind your work.
4. Snug the yarn to cover the skipped stitch with duplicate stitch just made, matching the tension of the other stitches.
5. Working from the back of the stitches, bring the yarn up through the center of the duplicate stitch just made AND the underlying stitch.
6. Skip the next stitch. Run the end of the tail under both loops of the next stitch and pull the yarn through.
7. Insert the yarn needle back through where the tail originally came from (duplicate stitch AND underlying stitch).
